COMBATING THE SEXUAL EXPLOITATION OF CHILDREN

1. Acknowledging that some estimates have as many as 1.2 million children being trafficked each year,
2. Recognizing that cyberspace is home to more than one million images of tens of thousands of children being subjected to sexual abuse and exploitation, that the victims portrayed in images of child pornography are getting younger and younger and the images are becoming more graphic and more violent, and that an estimated 200 new images of child pornography are posted daily,
3. Deeply concerned over the impact of all forms of child sexual exploitation on the wellbeing of children,
4. Recalling the 2006 Brussels Resolution of the OSCE Parliamentary Assembly on Combating Trafficking and the Exploitation of Children in Pornography and Decision No. 9/07 of the Ministerial Council on Combating Sexual Exploitation of Children on the Internet,
5. Deploring child sexual exploitation and abuse in any form,
6. Noting that research and law enforcement experience have documented a correlation between possession of child pornography and committing sexual abuse upon a child, and that every image of child pornography that is acquired encourages the further growth of this illicit industry,
7. Commends POLIS for creating an expert forum to facilitate access of participating States' law enforcement agencies to best practices and available investigative techniques or software, access to legislative drafting assistance and/or legislative models, and provide awareness-raising information and web links for the public,
8. Noting with deepest regret that no country is immune from child sexual exploitation and that the lives of children are forever altered as a result of exploitation and abuse,

The OSCE Parliamentary Assembly:

9. Condemns child sexual exploitation in all its forms;
10. Reiterates the call on participating States to ensure that the production, distribution, dissemination, importation, exportation, offering, selling, or possessing of child pornography (regardless of the intent to distribute), or any attempt to commit any of these acts, or any complicity or participation in any of these acts, are fully covered under national criminal or penal law, whether such offenses are committed domestically or transnationally or on an individual or organized basis, and are punishable by appropriate penalties that take into account their grave nature;
11. Calls on participating States to ratify the Council of Europe Convention on the Protection of Children against Sexual Exploitation and Sexual Abuse;

12. Encourages participating States to establish national operational centers, or other structures as appropriate, to increase coordination and to involve to the fullest extent possible public-private partnerships to more effectively address issues related to child sexual exploitation;
13. Calls on participating States to collect and store information, in accordance with national provisions on the protection of personal data, on persons convicted of child sexual exploitation or abuse in order to facilitate the apprehension of perpetrators and monitoring of their probation, and to develop, where appropriate, instruments to enable the exchange of information internationally among law enforcement agencies pertaining to sex offenders' convictions and disqualifications;
14. Requests the OSCE Secretariat to set up within the POLIS website of its Strategic Police Matters Unit a multilingual section devoted to combating child sexual exploitation on the Internet;
