

JOINT TRANSPORT RESEARCH CENTRE

HIGH LEVEL SEMINAR

OECD Headquarters, Paris, 25-26 September 2008

From Research to Implementation

Achieving Ambitious and Realistic Road Safety Targets:

The Safe System Approach

PROGRAMME

OBJECTIVES OF THE SEMINAR

- To disseminate the results of recent road safety research of the Joint Transport Research Centre of the OECD and the International Transport Forum, briefing key policy makers
- To engage high level policy makers in discussions on the safe system approach to road safety and explore key implementation issues.
- To contribute to moving road safety policy to a new level of ambition and contribute to the broader debate on the global road safety crisis in preparation for the 2009 Moscow UN road safety inter-Ministerial meeting.
- To identify areas where further research work would be most useful.

BACKGROUND

- Road safety is one of the main strategic themes of the Programme of work of the Joint Transport Research Centre of the OECD and the International Transport Forum. In 2008, the JTRC will publish a report on Towards Zero Road Deaths: Safe System to Achieve Ambitious Targets, a major collaborative effort to which high level experts from 31 countries, the World Bank, the World Health Organisation and the FIA Foundation have contributed. Other recent research work includes reports on child safety, mobility in an ageing society, young drivers and speed management.
- This body of research suggests that a safe system approach is central to achieving substantial further improvements in road safety. This is applicable in all parts of the world, with differences in emphasis according to context. It also suggests that ambitious, realistic targets are critical in driving the development of the policies needed to achieve significant reductions in deaths and injury on our roads.
- Road safety professionals understand the prevailing problems of road safety and have a tool kit of available counter-measures. Countries can learn from each other and international experience shows that ambitious targets can be met. Embracing the safe system approach appears to be the most promising way forward.
- The aim of the seminar is to present the conclusions of recent research and discuss implementation of measures recommended with the road safety policy making community.

EXPECTED AUDIENCE

- High level researchers and policy makers
- The Seminar is primarily focused on OECD / ITF member countries, however, it will also aim to contribute to the broader global debate on road safety.
- 100 150 participants.

LOCATION

OECD Headquarters, 2 rue André Pascal, Paris 16, France.

A dinner will be hosted by the FIA Foundation at the Automobile Club de France, 6 place de la Concorde, Paris 8, on the evening of 25 September 2008.

LANGUAGE

The official languages of the Seminar will be English, French and Russian.
