Organization of the Event

Each theme will be introduced by a spokesperson, who will give a forty minutes lecture. During this first presentation, audience members who wish to contribute to the theme, may apply to do so. After the introduction, there will be a fifty minutes window, for various contributions from the audience members, each of which will be allowed three minutes (extensible to five) to expose their views and/or experience upon the given subjects. These short interventions will follow the order of application, until all slots are occupied.

Any given doubts about the established procedure, please contact the organizing committee: 2009@jic.co.il
