23rd Economic Forum (2013)

Krynica-Zdrój 3 - 5 September

Towards a New Deal

During the whole year, Institute for Eastern Studies organizes meetings, which have the purpose of facilitating extensive discussion among the representatives of European political and economic elites and experts from leading analytical centres.

The main conference, organized by the Institute, is the Economic Forum in Krynica-Zdrój, which has already convened for 20 years. The Economic Forum is the most important economic conference in Central and Eastern Europe gathering presidents, heads of cabinets, ministers, EU Commissioners, representatives of the biggest corporations and analytical centres.

This year, the meeting in Krynica is scheduled to take place from the 3rd to the 5th of September 2013. The agenda includes 120 debates within the scope of 12 thematic blocks, such as macroeconomics, energy, business and management, new economy, health care, European Union and its neighbours, among other things. In recent years, the debates in Krynica have been attended by: President of the European Commission, Jose Manuel Barroso; presidents of Poland, Ukraine, Lithuania, Croatia and Estonia; prime ministers of Poland, Slovakia, the Czech Republic, Hungary, Moldova and Ukraine; EU commissioners for health, regional development, financial programming and budget; and also representatives of governments from more than ten European countries, among others.

Debates of the Forum have been reported by more than 500 journalists, and speeches and opinions of participants have been quoted by the major global media and widely commented by groups of experts. The Forum in Krynica gives also the opportunity of meeting for key players influencing the economy in our region.
