Employment and Social Inclusion in Europe: Developing Skills and Supporting Disadvantaged Groups

Overview

In the face of the recent economic downturn, the labour market and social conditions remain extremely challenging in Europe. In October 2013, Eurostat estimated that over 26 million people were unemployed in the EU-28, of whom over 19 million were in the Eurozone. Boosting employment in the EU is, therefore, one of the main priorities of policy makers.

The European Employment Strategy (EES) seeks to promote a life-cycle approach to work, lifelong learning and improved support for those seeking a job, as well as ensuring equal opportunities. For its actions to be effective, the EU must invest in jobs and people and improve the functioning of its labour market by addressing skills mismatches and segmentation.

In line with the Europe 2020 Strategy, the 'Social Investment Package' seeks to promote social investment across Member States to prevent any form of exclusion or discrimination of vulnerable groups and to ensure their participation in society. High unemployment rates among young people and seniors should also be addressed through the implementation of active inclusion policies at national level.

This timely International Symposium provides a valuable opportunity to discuss the challenges behind current unemployment trends in the EU. Delegates will have the opportunity to examine initiatives and innovative projects that have been implemented to tackle unemployment and social exclusion at national and EU levels. This Symposium will also allow delegates to exchange best practices and discuss solutions to boost employment in the EU.

“The Europe 2020 Strategy sets ambitious targets for increasing employment and reducing poverty. We have put in place the European Semester, the Employment Package and the Social Investment Package in order to guide the Member States in implementing their structural reforms.”

- László Andor, EU Commissioner responsible for Employment, Social Affairs and Inclusion,
October 2013

“Smart social policies – such as programmes that help the unemployed find jobs or systems that provide social security to vulnerable members of our society – cannot just be considered a cost. They are an investment in our future.”

- Guy Ryder, ILO Director General, February 2013
