Dear Mr. Per Stig Møller

It is with a heavy heart that I write to you and that I present my deepest condolences to Denmark. The horrible act of terror that has befallen your capital has left Morocco and the rest of the world in shock.

I most strongly condemn the violence which has been perpetrated in your country through this terrorist attack. During this painful time, I would like to convey my sympathy with the families of the victims during this painful circumstance.

Now, more than ever, the international community must join hands and work together to defeat this rising phenomenon, which threatens the security of all nations.

Please accept the expression of my highest consideration.
