ABOUT THE CONFERENCE

In a world with a growing demand for legalized euthanasia and (physician) assisted dying, this conference intends to inform and inspire a wide range of professionals involved in end-of-life choices. This conference offers physicians, scientists, lawyers, politicians, policymakers, campaigners and activists an opportunity to deepen, broaden and share their knowledge and experience. The NVVE strives to contribute to make dying-with-dignity a legal option in more countries.

The conference will take place from May 11-14th 2016 at the RAI Amsterdam Convention Centre.

PROGRAM THEMES

MEDICAL

Why attend the Medical Program? The Medical Program addresses day to day decision-making by physicians in end-of-life-care. What defines good medical care when life comes to a close; and which ethical dilemmas are involved when considering either palliative care or euthanasia? The Program is especially interesting for physicians, health care workers, psychiatrists and policy advisors concerned with the challenges regarding dying with dignity.

SCIENCE

The latest scientific research in end-of-life care and dying will be presented. Eminent, international speakers will discuss facts & figures and their implications for the future. These challenges will be explored from different scientific fields such as bioethics, medicine and social science.

LEGAL

Various aspects of and obstacles to the legislation of euthanasia and assisted dying will be shared and discussed, with examples from different states and countries e.g. the Netherlands, Belgium, Switzerland, Quebec (Canada) and Oregon (USA).

CAMPAIGN

What makes a dying with dignity campaign effective? What are the do's and don'ts? What language to use? How to link in to social media? How to transform broad public support into action? The Campaign Program focuses on specifics involved in campaigning for dying with dignity, paying particular attention to national and cultural differences.
