Kære Ole

Blot i opfølgning til nedenstående har IOM fremsendt følgende som svar på spørgsmålet om hvilke firmaer og aktører de samarbejder med:

Information campaigns are highly complex and IOM conducts these across the world, including the MENA region. We (the IOM) directly implement these campaigns, employing local artists, journalists, communicators etc.

IOM is a project based organization, unlike other UN agencies, and thus prefers direct implementation to subcontracting.

Venligst
Stine

Kære Ole,

Nedenstående fremsendes efter aftale med Marie-Louise.

Missionen har d.d. været i kontakt med det Internationale Agentur for Migration (IOM) som selv udarbejder og implementerer informationskampagner rettet mod flygtninge og immigranter (se info i nedenstående). IOMs informationskampagner er ofte bygget op omkring immigranterne selv, idet IOM bl.a. interviewer personer der står til hjemsendelse. Disse historier og beretninger (f.eks. hvor de fortæller, at de før rejsen havde solgt alt de ejer og nu må vende hjem fattigere end før) viderefremidles dernæst til relevante befolkningsgrupper i hjemlandet.

Desværre har vi ikke på nuværende tidspunkt fået yderligere information om deres samarbejdspartnere.

Venligst
Stine

Subject: RE: Urgent request: Contact information for firms - campaigns

Dear Stine,

IOM runs communications campaigns aimed at informing migrants of the potential risks they take when using smugglers to get to Europe.

One interesting approach with Switzerland called YouProject.ch contains videos and slideshows of people that were returned from Switzerland to their home countries. Various projects within the Swiss return assistance program aim to create better conditions for their successful reintegration and help to facilitate the new beginning. YouProject puts the opinion and experience of the returnees in the center of the stories.

We are currently working in Niger, an important funnel for irregular migrants from West Africa where we use narrative-story telling and testimony from returned migrants to better inform those setting out on journeys.

When we work with appropriate, contextualized communications tools like graphic books (comics-based) like these in Haiti and this one on irregular migration we take care to capture feedback from the migrants and thereby track whether the message has been well received. IOM has a common service platform called Community Response Map which enables us and partner agencies to track migrant comprehension of the communications and to communicate with them along their journeys. It produces real time maps and graphs that demonstrate the effectiveness of communications campaigns like here and below:

Do Let me know if I can help more. I will also ask about communications companies we work with in the Middle East.

Best wishes,

Ambassaden i Oslo, den 29. August 2015

Flygtninge/asyl: Norsk presse om mulig dansk annonsekampagne

Norges største dagblad, Aftenposten, behandler ovenstående emne i gårsdagens netudgave (kopierede tekst) og bringer i dag en tilsvarende artikel i dagens trykte udgave, hvor forsiden af 2. sektion stort set dækkes af nedenstående illustration.

Brylle

Aftenposten: Danmark vil stoppe asylsøkere med annonsekampanje

For å avskrekke asylsøkere fra å komme til Danmark vil den nye regjeringen rykke inn annonser i utenlandske aviser. - Interessant tiltak, mener Høyre og FrP.

- Vi vil redusere de meget sterke flyktningsstrømmene som kommer til Danmark. Vi mener de er drevet av menneskesmuglere som sender immigranter til landene der de sosiale ytelsene er høyest, sier Marcus Knuth, integrasjons- og utlendingspolitisk talsmann for det borgerlige partiet Venstre.

Partiet danner en mindretallsregjering etter valget 18. juni, der innvandring var et hovedtema. I fjor søkte nærmere 15.000 mennesker asyl i Danmark. Det var en dobling fra året før. Den nye regjeringen har allerede kuttet kraftig i støtten til flyktninger som har fått innvilget asyl.

Det er denne innstramningen integrasjonsminister Inger Støjberg nå vil gjøre flyktninger oppmerksomme på ved å rykke inn annonser i utenlandske aviser. Hensikten er at kampanjen skal spre seg til sosiale medier.

FrP og Høyre: - Interessant tiltak

Kampanjen vekker interesse i det norske Justisdepartementet.

- Det er et interessant tiltak. Vi vil selvfølgelig følge med og se hva som blir resultatet av dette, sier statssekretær Gjermund Hagesæter (FrP).

Stalssekretær Gjemund Hagesæter (FrP) vil følge den danske kampanjen med interesse.

- Det er kommet et ganske stort antall flyktninger til Europa den siste tiden. Det er en virkelighet vi vil forholde oss til. Det som skjer i Danmark og andre land vil være av stor interesse, sier han.

Han får støtte av Høyres innvandringspolitiske talskvinne Ingerd Schou, som mener det danske tiltaket er interessant og ikke vil avvise at noe lignende er aktuelt i Norge.

- Den norske regjeringen bør høste erfaringer fra Danmark før vi eventuelt tar et slikt tiltak i bruk, sier hun.

- Ingen skremselskampanje

Ideen til den danske kampanjen oppstod etter at EUs grensebyrå Frontex nylig gjorde integrasjonsminister Støjberg oppmerksom på et skjema over hva ulike europeiske land tilbyr flyktninger. Skjemaet skal være utarbeidet av menneskesmuglere og publisert på en hjemmeside sensommeren 2014. Skjemaet omfatter blant annet Danmark og Norge.

Akkurat hva som skal stå i danskenes annonser er foreløpig ikke bestemt.

- Det er viktig at den er faktabasert. Dette skal ikke være en skremselskampanje, slik noen kritikere har hevdet, sier Marcus Knuth.

Det er heller ikke bestemt hvor stort budsjett som skal avsettes eller i hvilke land annonsene skal publiseres.

- Det skal være i de områder hvor menneskesmuglere opererer. For eksempel i Tyrkia, sier Knuth.

- Flere vil søke seg til Norge

Når kampanjen iverksettes, vil den styrke Danmarks omdømme som restriktivt, mener Tor W. Andreassen, professor i innovasjon og markedsføring ved Norges Handelshøyskole.

- Danmark er vel det landet i Norden som kjører den hardeste linjen overfor innvandrere generelt. Dette tiltaket underbygger denne harde linjen, sier han.

Professor Tor W. Andreassen tror flere flyktninger vil søke seg til Norge dersom den danske kampanjen når gjennom.

FOTO: Privat

Det er likevel umulig å si om kampanjen vil redusere antall asylsøkere, mener han.

- Er det sannsynlig at Norge blir mer attraktivt for flyktninger dersom danskene når gjennom med sin avskrekkingskampanje?

- Ja. Strømmen av flyktninger vil tilta. Mange lever under svært kummerlige forhold politisk og menneskelig, og vil søke seg til andre steder. Med internett får de innblikk i hvordan andre land og mennesker har det, noe som skaper en voldsom kontrasteffekt og øker lysten til å flytte. Når Danmark strammer inn, er det naturlig at det vil bli flere som søker seg til andre land - deriblant Norge.

SV: - Vil skyve enda flere til Sverige

SVs innvandringspolitiske talskvinne Karin Andersen mener kampanjen først og fremst er rettet mot danske velgere.

- Dette er en politisk markering mer for hjemmepublikum enn for dem som er på flukt fra forfølgelse og krig. Og det vil kanskje bidra til å skyve enda flere over til Sverige, sier hun.

- Det er et u solidarisk svar på en situasjon som roper på solidaritet - både med dem som flykter og med landene som tar imot mange ganger så mange som Danmark.

Også Aps innvandringspolitiske talsmann Stein Erik Lauvås er skeptisk.

- Jeg tror ikke det er veien å gå for å hindre fattige folk fra å komme til Europa. De flykter fra krig, fattigdom, nød og elendighet på alle måter. Jeg tror de fleste reiser hit av helt andre årsaker enn de rent økonomiske, sier han.

Omstridt australsk kampanje

Det høyrepopulistiske og innvandringskritiske partiet Dansk Folkeparti vil gå lengre enn den nye regjeringen. Partiet gjorde et brakvalg 18. juni, og ble med en fremgang på 8,8 prosent landets nest største parti.

Dansk Folkeparti, nå Danmarks nest største parti, vil lansere videoer inspirert av en omstridt australsk kampanje. For noen uker siden foreslo partiet å lansere en serie videoer på arabisk og engelsk inspirert av en omstridt kampanje fra Australia.

I den australske kampanjen poserer general Angus Campbell iført uniform foran et bilde av en båt på piskende bølger under mørke skyer med påskriften «NO WAY - YOU WILL NOT MAKE AUSTRALIA HOME».

Australske myndigheter benyttet seg også av tegneserier for å nå frem til flyktninger.

- Viktig å sende beskjed

Marcus Knuth i danske Venstre understreker at deres forslag er noe annet.

- Det blir ikke i den stilen. Det skal være rene fakta: Sosiale ytelser er nå nær halvert.

Knuth mener den australske kampanjen er for bombastisk.

- Den lukter litt for mye av en skremselskampanje. Vår kampanje skal være en opplysningskampanje. Derfor bruker vi annonse i stedet for video, sier han.

- Er det ikke nettopp for å skremme flyktninger fra å komme dere gjør dette?

- Jeg vil ikke bruke ordet «skremme». Men «orientere». Blant menneskesmuglere finnes mange historier om at Danmark er et av landene med høyest sosiale ytelser. Det er viktig å sende en beskjed til folk som er på vei til Danmark om at vi ikke lenger tilbyr de høye ytelsene som ble betalt av vår tidligere regjering.

- Hva er forskjellen på skremsel og opplysning?

- Det ene er basert på fakta. Det andre er mer bombastisk. Men vi er selvfølgelig enige med Dansk Folkeparti om at vi vil få formidlet at Danmark ikke lenger er landet hvor vi betaler de høyeste ytelsene.

Norske kampanjer

* I 2002 sponset Kommunaldepartementet russisk og ukrainsk TV for at de skulle komme til Norge og lage reportasjer om de kummerlige forholdene ved norske asylmottak. Hensikten var å skremme ukrainere og russere fra å søke opphold i Norge. Departementet var den gang ledet av nåværende statsminister Erna Solberg - og kampanjen ble kjent som «Erna-TV».

* Da kampanjen viste seg å ha god effekt, satset departementet videre på Balkan året etter.

* I 2005 bevilget Utenriksdepartementet en halv million kroner til en kampanje rettet mot nigerianske jenter. Gjennom lokale radiosendinger ble jentene advart mot å la seg lokke av menneskehandlere for å reise til Europa og Norge.

* I 2012 iverksatte Justisdepartementet en kampanje rettet mot barn i Afghanistan for å hindre dem i å legge ut på reise alene. Kampanjen var et samarbeid med UNICEF, som mente den ville bidra til å styrke barnas rettigheter. Redd Barna mente imidlertid at kampanjen trolig bare ville føre til at barna som hadde behov for å flykte ville velge et annet land enn Norge.

* Mens de nevnte kampanjene tok sikte på å hindre folk fra å komme til Norge, har UDI flere ganger gjennomført kampanjer rettet mot ulovlige innvandrere - personer som allerede har fått avslag på søknad om opphold i Norge. En ny kampanje ble iverksatt 13. juli i år. Med plakater skrevet på ulike språk og hengt opp i tilknytning til kollektivtransport over hele landet oppfordres de aktuelle personene å returnere til hjemlandet sitt før 1. september. Etter dette vil de få betydelig mindre støtte til retur. UDIs nettsider har hittil hatt en trafikkvekst på 209 prosent.

Dear Julie,

Thank you for your email and for the letter of acceptance.

Kindly note that since the Ministry does not have a Facebook and a Twitter account, we will be increasing the frequency of both the Facebook ads and the Google Display ads (i.e. we will be relying on two of the four mediums initially suggested, omitting the options of the Facebook "Page Posts" and the Twitter "Promoted Tweets"). That said, since this will change the KPIs of the campaign (in a positive way, as the ads will run at a higher rate), we have asked the social media agency to re-compute these KPIs and to share them with us, latest tomorrow noon. As soon as we have them, we will be sure to share them with you, noting that this will not impact the budget in any way.

On the other hand, can you please confirm the payment medium you will be using (i.e. cheque or bank transfer), noting that we will go ahead and exceptionally book the space for the newspaper ads as of today (and will pay for them ourselves) in order to secure the availability of the space on Monday, September 7th? Can we kindly rely on you to have the payment to us made by 5:00 pm Wednesday September 2nd?

Moreover, can you please confirm that you will be sending us the logos for the campaign (both offline and online) by Tomorrow, Tuesday September 1st?

Also, can we consider that the Arab text, which we had shared with you, has now been officially approved?

Looking forward to your kind feedback. Thanks

Dear Henrik,

It was a pleasure indeed meeting you all yesterday.

As promised, kindly find attached the following:

- The proposal for carrying out the project, and which includes both a first option that limits the scope of work to the exact parameters requested in the brief, as well as a second option that tries to elaborate on the brief by suggesting additional ways through which to achieve the objectives of the campaign
- The comprehensively reviewed and copywritten Arabized text for the ad, and which is faithful to the original English text (the version you just sent us) and void of any prejudicial terms that can be misinterpreted or taken out of context, all while being grammatically sound and "culturally fit".

While we look forward to your feedback and alignment on the attached, kindly note that, to make the deadline of September 5th, we will urgently need to receive by 5:00 pm, Tuesday September 1st, the logo and approval on the text, with all related payments to also be made by 5:00 pm, Wednesday September 2nd.

Eagerly awaiting your feedback and looking forward to joining forces on this and hopefully other upcoming projects. Thanks.

Subject: SV: Assignment - information on newly appointed changes in the terms and conditions of residence in Denmark

Dear Rani

As promised just a quick follow-up on the practicalities for tomorrow's video conference. Anders Østervang (deputy head of mission) will be happy to see you at the embassy tomorrow. Anders recommended that you plan for it to take approximately 20 minutes to get into the embassy due to security measures. Seeing that the video conference is scheduled for 1 pm Beirut time, I would recommend that you plan to arrive at the embassy 20-30 minutes in advance. The embassy is in the same building as the British embassy.

If you have trouble getting in, please do not hesitate to call Anders Østervang.

Dear Julie,

It was a pleasure talking to you all earlier. Thank you for sharing with us the briefing document, as well as the suggested text to run in the Lebanese newspapers.

We will carefully review these in order to further discuss them in our call tomorrow.

As agreed, we will subsequently share with you two proposals: a first that relates to the implementation of the assignment, as is, and a second that integrates our recommended approach to securing the key objectives of the project based on our extended knowledge of the local environment and its challenges.

Looking forward to hopefully joining forces on this and other projects. Thanks

Best Regards,

Rany Kassab

Subject: Assignment - information on newly appointed changes in the terms and conditions of residence in Denmark

Dear Rani

Thank you very much for the talk and for paying interest in our assignment.

I forward a brief description of the assignment and the information text in English and Arabic. The layout is not final. E.g. the correct logos needs to be added.

As agreed we will appreciate a proposal and a budget regarding:

- 1) Basic implementation of the assignment: inserting of ads in two newspapers and placing of the message on the social media
- 2) Optional: Road map/mapping exercise regarding relevant communication channels and spreading of the message

We will appreciate if you suggest two newspapers. Regarding the size of the ads we expect rather small notices without pictures.

As mentioned the timeframe is rather limited. If at all possible we would like the ads to be published on September 5 - which is Saturday next week.

As mentioned the ads will be accompanied by an information initiative targeted Danish asylum seekers.

Flemming Johannesen from the Ministry of Foreign Affairs will send you the necessary information regarding time and place of the video conference tomorrow.

Thank you very much. Looking forward to hear from you.

Kind regards

Kære Ole.

Nedenstående fremsendes efter aftale med Marie-Louise.

Missionen har d.d. været i kontakt med det Internationale Agentur for Migration (IOM) som selv udarbejder og implementerer Informationskampagner rettet mod flygtninge og immigranter (se info i nedenstående). IOMs informationskampagner er ofte bygget op omkring immigranterne selv, idet IOM bl.a. interviewer personer der står til hjemsendelse. Disses historier og beretninger (f.eks. hvor de fortæller, at de før rejsen havde solgt alt de ejer og nu må vende hjem fattigere end før) viderefremmes dernæst til relevante befolkningsgrupper i hjemlandet.

Desværre har vi ikke på nuværende tidspunkt fået yderligere information om deres samarbejdspartnere.

Dear Stine,

IOM runs communications campaigns aimed at informing migrants of the potential risks they take when using smugglers to get to Europe.

One interesting approach with Switzerland called YouProject.ch contains videos and slideshows of people that were returned from Switzerland to their home countries. Various projects within the Swiss return assistance program aim to create better conditions for their successful reintegration and help to facilitate the new beginning. YouProject puts the opinion and experience of the returnees in the center of the stories.

We are currently working in Niger, an important funnel for irregular migrants from West Africa where we use narrative-story telling and testimony from returned migrants to better inform those setting out on journeys.

When we work with appropriate, contextualized communications tools like graphic books (comics-based) like these in Haiti and this one on irregular migration we take care to capture feedback from the migrants and thereby track whether the message has been well received. IOM has a common service platform called Community Response Map which enables us and partner agencies to track migrant comprehension of the communications and to communicate with them along their journeys. It produces real time maps and graphs that demonstrate the effectiveness of communications campaigns like here and below:

Do Let me know if I can help more. I will also ask about communications companies we work with in the Middle East.

Best wishes,

Leonard Doyle

Kære Ole

Blot i opfølgning til nedenstående har IOM fremsendt følgende som svar på spørgsmålet om hvilke firmaer og aktører de samarbejder med:

Information campaigns are highly complex and IOM conducts these across the world, including the MENA region. We [the IOM] directly implement these campaigns, employing local artists, journalists, communicators etc.
IOM is a project based organization, unlike other UN agencies, and thus prefers direct implementation to subcontracting.

MICHALA BENDIXEN

Refugees, come to Denmark. Here's why

"Dear refugee! I am lucky to live in a country where people flee to and not from. I hope you will find peace of mind and a good new life in my small country, where we no longer remember wars, starvation and oppression. Through my many years of offering legal advice to refugees, I know you did not leave your own country voluntarily, but only because you were forced to. You are welcome!"

This is a rough quote from a post by me, brought one month ago in the debate pages of the British news paper The Guardian. I was one step ahead of the Danish minister of integration, who had already announced a campaign to scare refugees away from Denmark. My post received massive attention with 16,000 shares from The Guardian's website, and I was interviewed by Danish media outlets all day.

I simply invited refugees to come to Denmark, listing some of the advantages in my country. Now that the minister has actually published an advertisement discouraging refugees from coming to Denmark in The Daily Star, I will not only repeat my invitation, but also explain why the official ad is manipulative, indeed close to being untruthful.

Europe is experiencing a sharp rise in people arriving and asking for asylum. So far it has not been able to face the situation in a coordinated way. But the numbers are still ridiculously low, compared to the size of our populations, and the numbers hosted by Lebanon, Jordan and Turkey. The various European countries are reacting in quite different ways: opening borders or building fences ...

The vast majority of refugees in Europe are now arriving in only two countries: Sweden and Germany -- Denmark's two neighboring countries. This means a long waiting time for asylum decisions and accommodation in tents and other temporary places. Permanent housing for refugees with a permit to stay is also becoming a serious problem.

The official ad is manipulative, indeed close to being untruthful

The Danish government is trying to scare refugees away by cutting down on refugees' rights and tightening the laws, hoping they will go to other countries instead. But we are still a country with respect for human rights and international law, and therefore the minister has been forced to give a completely distorted picture of the situation in the ad published in Lebanon.

There is also a growing number of Danes who are now turning against the government's inhumane and petty reaction to refugees who are arriving, actually running for their lives. Right now, hundreds of Danes are offering refugees lifts in their own cars as well as beds in their homes, though this is illegal. The reception centers are receiving more clothes, food and toys than they can handle. Some 50,000 people demonstrated in front of Parliament Saturday with the message "Welcome to Refugees," and the latest polls show a majority in favor of taking in more. However, most of the refugees are just passing through Denmark on their way to Sweden.

Here are some reasons why more refugees should come to Denmark:

First, Denmark is small, but one of the richest and most stable countries in Europe. We have capacity for much more than the 6,700 people to whom we have granted asylum so far this year.

Second, Denmark has one of the highest recognition rates for refugees in Europe: 90 percent are granted a permit to stay these days (mostly Syrians and Eritreans).

Third, the case-processing time is among the fastest in Europe. Syrians and Eritreans are usually granted asylum after three to four months, and the waiting time for family reunification is between four and seven months, depending on the circumstances of the case.

Fourth, wages are high in Denmark, and the unions are strong. This makes it hard to get a job as a newcomer, but in the long run refugees will not be "the working poor," as they are in Germany and the United Kingdom.

Fifth, most refugees describe Danes as being very friendly, open minded and helpful. A new civil movement has evolved as a result of government policy.

And here are my answers to the ad from the Danish minister:

The vast majority of Syrians and all Eritreans are granted asylum according to the Refugee Convention, which gives them full access to family reunification and a five-year stay. The one-year residence permit is only given to a small part of the Syrian refugees, and it will be extended if the war continues.

So far, the extension of residence permits for refugees after five years has been almost automatic.

Danish language requirements will be high in the future, but language school is free, and educated refugees will be able to pass the test.

The Manifestly Unfounded procedure mainly applies to people from Serbia, Kosovo and Albania, so most refugees will not have to worry about that -- this actually makes the procedure faster for "real" refugees.

Denmark is not deporting more rejected asylum seekers than other European states.

Welcome to Denmark!

Kære Henrik,

Tak for din mail. Det står mig ikke helt klart, om der fortsat er tale om en forhåndsorientering af UNHCR og IOM, før annoncerne bliver bragt, eller om der nu snarere er tale om en efterfølgende orientering af de to organisationer om, at der er foretaget en informationsindsats, hvis indhold de i så fald formentlig allerede vil være bekendt med fra deres medarbejdere på stedet. Det afhænger af den præcise tidsplan, som du nævner er under udarbejdelse, men det vil i sagens natur også være ret afgørende for orienteringens form. Vi vil under alle omstændigheder bede jer om ret præcise retningslinjer for, hvilke budskaber vi fra Missionens side skal give de to organisationer.

Bedste hilsener

Carsten

Kære Carsten,

Godt at møde dig i sidste uge.

Som du ved, oplyste jeg, at jeg var blevet bedt om at orientere UNHCR og IOM forud for iværksættelsen af informationsindsatsen. Da det desværre ikke vil kunne lade sig gøre, er jeg i stedet blevet bedt om at anmode om din assistance.

Vi påregner lige nu, at annoncering mv. vil finde sted på mandag, dvs. den 7. september, og vi forestiller os derfor, at du orienterer UNHCR og IOM i løbet af formiddagen mandag. Der vil inden da være udarbejdet noget skriftligt materiale, som du får tilsendt. Den præcise tidsplan er under udarbejdelse, og du vil blive orienteret, når den foreligger.

Lad mig høre, om du har mulighed for at påtage dig opgaven/alternativt at lade din souschef dække. Jeg foreslår, at vi evt. taler nærmere herom. Du kan til enhver tid kontakte mig på min mobil +45 40704813.

Bh, Henrik
