

Brief Organisation Strategy Note for Denmark's engagement with
 International Planned Parenthood Federation (IPPF)
 2015-2019

The work of IPPF

IPPF is an international non-governmental organisation that works to improve sexual and reproductive health and rights (SRHR) for all, with a special focus on poor, under-served and vulnerable populations. Initially established in 1952 by family planning services from eight countries, IPPF has grown into the world's largest non-governmental provider of family planning services, with the Federation consisting of 147 nationally owned and managed Member Associations (MAs) giving it a presence in some 170 countries worldwide.

Denmark supports IPPF because

- IPPF's commitment to promoting SRHR as human rights and its youth-centred approach.
- IPPF's commitment to serving those most in need of SRH information and services.

Key challenges for IPPF

- Persistent opposition to SRHR at global and national levels.
- Reliance on a few, government donors allocating funding on an annual basis.

Denmark will expect IPPF to

- Promote SRHR globally and at national levels with particular focus on the most vulnerable population groups.
- Play a key role in advancing SRHR for youth.

Denmark will follow-up through

- Participation in annual IPPF donor consultations and in Donor Advisory Group once established.
- IPPF annual report and accounts.

IPPF
Established	1952
HQ	London, United Kingdom
Field offices	6 regional offices 147 national Member Associations
Human resources	104 at HQ 33,000 local staff
Director General	Tewodros Melesse
Financial resources	126 mill. USD (2014)
Denmark's contribution	40* mill. DKK annually

* In 2016 35 mill. DKK

Donor donors (2014)

