Danish Foreign Policy Yearbook 2017

Per Stig Møller's pessimism on behalf of Europe; Denmark, Brexit, Trump and much more

Kristian Fischer & Hans Mouritzen

Danish Foreign Policy Yearbook 2017 has just been published and it contains an overview of Danish foreign policy and Denmark's regional and global role. The academic articles also cover the so-called Greenland Card – how may Greenland's strategic importance for the United States strengthen Denmark in Washington – and Denmark's refugee policy as an example of negative 'nation branding' like: 'don't come to us, go to your neighbor'.

These articles are abstracted in English and Danish at the outset of chapter one.

Minister for Foreign Affairs Anders Samuelsen assesses the international situation and Danish foreign policy, and Minister of Defence Claus Hjort Frederiksen writes about Denmark in a time of changing security environment.

The Yearbook is edited by Director Kristian Fischer and Senior Researcher Hans Mouritzen, and it also includes key statistics, opinion polls and a bibliography.
