

Danish Organisation Strategy for The Global Fund to Fight AIDS, Tuberculosis and Malaria

Introduction:

The Global Fund (GF) was established in 2001 with the aim of gathering international support for the fight against AIDS, tuberculosis (TB) and malaria, and working with partners to support the most effective prevention and treatment

Key results:

- GF funding has contributed to impressive results in the fight against the three diseases.
- In round figures, 10 million people are now on antiretroviral AIDS treatment under programs funded by GF.
- In the period 2002-15, 16.6 million have received treatment for tuberculosis
- More than 713 million insecticide-treated bed nets have been distributed in countries receiving support from GF

Justification for support.

- Support to GF is directly in line with the strategy “The World 2030, Denmark’s strategy for development policy and humanitarian action”, and its aim to place Denmark at the forefront of international efforts to promote sexual and reproductive health and rights, including the fight against HIV/AIDS.
- GF is committed to invest in programs that promote and protect human rights and gender equality, and reduce human rights barriers to services and increase programing for key populations.
- GF is one of the biggest multilateral funders of the health-related SDG 3 including increasing investments in strengthening health systems

How will we ensure results and monitor progress

- Monitoring Danish priority areas based on GF’s own framework and indicators
- Undertaking a midterm review of the Danish Organisation Strategy

Risk and challenges

- Maintaining the high level of funding in a changing funding landscape and declining availability of ODA
- Programmatic impact and systems strengthening, ensuring that GF invest in the most effective interventions
- Misuse of funds and maturity of risk systems
