Where Distinguished Global Women Role Model and Leaders Meet

Subject: The National Women Leaders' Delegation to Dubai.

In the visionary framework of the world's kings, queens, crown princess, presidents, prime ministers, ministers, governors, mayors, government, business decision-makers, leaders and in alignment with global economic efforts to promote the women's empowerment, gender balance, leadership, and women's global competitiveness, there is a collective exploration of international leadership strategies. These strategies aim to nurture the evolution of women into role models, fostering growth, and inspiring the younger generation to shape initiatives across the seven continents.

In this direction, numerous concerns have emerged regarding women's leadership across all 7Continents, in this context the global institutions are taking proactive steps to foster a global society where women can contribute actively to its progress. The utilization of data-driven strategies and targeted support for women in government and business organizations demonstrates responsible governance and a dedication to this cause.

Your country's and its ministries efforts and strong belief in the integral relationship between a flourishing economy and women's empowerment are crucial for ensuring successful representation across all aspects of government, business and the national economy governance and management. In this regard, Woibex appreciates your governments and the "National Fortune Companies" support in advancing women's leadership, as it significantly contributes to the country global competitiveness, fosters leadership, excellence, and empowers women leaders and the younger generation.

In this context, to support the "International Women's Day", Datamatix, in collaboration with global governments, businesses, media, official institutions, intellectuals, support of the Middle East Excellence Awards Institute, with great pleasure presents the 27th International Women Leaders Congress, on 17-20 Feb 2025 in Dubai, UAE, the congress will be held under the theme "The 7Continents Success Stories of Women" attended by global government and business decision-makers, official institutions, intellectuals and women leaders.

On this occasion, we respectfully request for your Excellency's approval to instruct the parliament to form a national women leaders delegation, comprising representatives from the Parliament, the Ministries, Government Organizations, States, Municipalities, Tourism Service Providers, Artists, Businesswomen, Chamber of Commences, Investments Authorities, Women Associations, Universities, Business and the Financial Corporates to join the delegation and the 27th Women Leaders Congress.

This delegation definitely will act as ambassadors for your country and its organizations, making a substantial impact and enhancing the success of future endeavors, their participation will support the promotion of your country and the government's supportive values and objectives, as well as facilitate valuable connections and the development of sustainable education, cultural, knowledge exchange, and bilateral business relations between your country organizations and other organization, their presence will also contribute to fostering global discussions on empowering women leadership.

We look forward to welcoming your delegates.

Sincerely,
Ali Al Kamali

The Woibex – (United Nations World Day of Social Justice) proudly presents the United Arab Emirates as a land of opportunity for more than 200 nationalities. The UAE is committed to providing social justice across the country, ensuring that everyone is treated equally under the principle of human dignity and justice, making the UAE an ideal place for all to live in peace and harmony.

On the 27th Women Leaders Congress, which coincides with the United Nations World Day of Social Justice, the United Arab Emirates (UAE) emerges as the ideal host for this United Nation's significant event. The UAE has made remarkable strides in promoting justice and equality, earning its reputation as a country that upholds the rule of law and social justice with integrity and dedication. The UAE's legal framework is designed to protect the rights of all its residents, regardless of nationality, gender, or background fostering an environment where justice prevails. Initiatives such as the establishment of specialized courts for labor and human rights issues, and the enforcement of anti-discrimination laws, highlight the UAE's commitment to justice and equality.

Moreover, the UAE's leadership has been proactive in supporting women's empowerment and gender equality, ensuring equal opportunities in education, employment, and political participation. High-profile female leaders and entrepreneurs in the UAE serve as role models and leaders, demonstrating the country's dedication to an inclusive and just society.

Women have advocated for legal reforms such as the Equal Pay Law, Maternity Leave, Workplace Protections, and Anti-Harassment Laws, leading to significant global changes in family law and labor rights. They have also promoted access to quality education, particularly for girls and women, and initiated community development initiatives that support small businesses and improve healthcare access, thereby enhancing the quality of life for women.

The World Day of Social Justice event and the 27th Women Leaders Congress collaborating, will be pivotal in advancing the concept of social justice by aiming to influence national and international policies. The leaders will discuss strategies and frameworks for societies and economies to function more cohesively when social justice is prioritized, promoting a fair globalization of fundamental rights, employment opportunities, and social protections.

The Woibex - (United Nation International Mother Language Day), in this context, Datamatix is proud to present the United Arab Emirates as a global hub of rich linguistic diversity, hosting over 200 nationalities under one roof residing harmoniously, fostering international cultural exchange and mutual understanding among diverse communities with different Language.

The UAE stands out as an ideal host for the United Nations International Mother Language Day due to its commitment to promoting linguistic diversity and inclusivity promoting multilingualism through education and workplace inclusivity, enabling individuals from various linguistic backgrounds to contribute to its vibrant economy.

By valuing and preserving mother languages alongside international languages, the UAE supports global cultural exchange and enriches its societal fabric. This approach enhances communication globally and positions the UAE as a global hub for living and economic growth driven by a culturally diverse and multilingual workforce.

Women play a crucial role in supporting and advocating for the global language diversity and inclusivity in the UAE, which is making significant changes globally. They actively promote multilingualism through educational initiatives and cultural programs that celebrate linguistic heritage, ensuring that diverse languages are preserved and respected, women contribute significantly to human resources policies and strategies, promoting linguistics creating an international workplace where people from all nationalities feel valued and empowered to collaborate. This inclusive linguistic environment enhances cultural understanding and fosters economic growth by harnessing the collective strengths of a linguistically diverse workforce across various sectors of the UAE economy.

The United Nation International Mother Language Day event, and the 27th Women Leaders Congress, in collaboration, will celebrate the importance of preserving and promoting mother languages as cornerstones of cultural identity and heritage, educating attendees about the unique cultural expressions tied to different languages and fostering a deeper appreciation for linguistic diversity.

Women expert linguists and literature leaders will share insights into the history, folklore, and literary traditions of various languages, providing insights into the richness of global languages. They will discuss strategies for revitalizing languages at risk of disappearing and highlight successful initiatives worldwide. The event aims to encourage the younger generation to embrace and take pride in their mother tongues and linguistic heritage. Additionally, authors will present their works, allowing readers to explore a diverse array of linguistic treasures that honor the multitude of languages spoken in the UAE, promoting an inclusive society, and highlighting the benefits of using native languages alongside international languages to enhance social cohesion and economic growth.

Why the 7Continents Government, Business, and Official Institution Should Take Part in the 27th International Women Leaders Congress

The 7Continents government and business organizations leaders must support the women's participation in the congress, where women will share their success stories and learn from others across all 7Continents. Women leaders from various countries will engage with these narratives of achievement and resilience, providing participating leaders with valuable insights into effective strategies for advancing women's empowerment.

Participation in the congress demonstrates a commitment to fostering collaboration and dialogue on critical issues affecting women worldwide. This women leader's involvement can lead to the implementation of global policies and initiatives that promote women's involvement in government management governance and the nations education development, economic opportunities development, and participation on a global scale.

Africa

As an emerging market and a continent known for its youth demographic, African governments and business corporates leaders should support women to participate and learn from successful women leaders across various sectors worldwide. They can leverage these insights to develop policies promoting gender equality and women's empowerment in education, healthcare, economic empowerment development and more.

Asia

As a leading hub for business and innovation, the Asian governments and business corporates must ensure that sustainability becomes ingrained in the culture, and support women leaders who contribute significantly to the Asian economy, in this context they should support the women leaders participation and ensure that the women from government and business collaborate internationally, encouraging the world to partner with Asian organizations and should exchange best practices and innovative solutions for empowering women in business and the workforce. By supporting female entrepreneurs who drive economic growth and social progress, they can participate in this global congress, enhance their knowledge, and adopt modern management practices for sustainability.

Europe

Europe, as a leading knowledge-based continent, should demonstrate its commitment to gender equality through active participation in the congress and by sharing experiences in promoting opportunities for women. Collaborating with businesses and civil society organizations, European governments and business corporations can work towards closing the gender pay gap, increasing women's representation in leadership roles, combating gender imbalance, supporting women's entrepreneurship, encouraging corporate board diversity, and fostering prosperous growth in the continent. European stakeholders can inspire positive change worldwide and build a more inclusive and equitable future for all.

North America

North America, known for its technology and startup hubs heaven, along with its technological industrial sectors, should utilize the Congress as a platform to highlight the initiatives aimed at advancing women's empowerment. As a government organization and business corporate they can share successful models for supporting women in stem fields, fostering workplace diversity and inclusion, and promoting work-life balance through family-friendly policies, among other strategies, to propel the continent to the next level.

South America

South America's abundant natural resources, including oil, gas, minerals, and mining, Agri along with manufacturing opportunities across various sectors, make it an attractive destination for investors and entrepreneurs. Therefore, the participation of the women leaders from the government and business corporations in the congress is essential, given the region's secure status in agriculture and related industries, their involvement should contribute significantly to the global dialogue on women's empowerment. By participating in the congress and sharing their strategies for addressing challenges such as gender balance, governments can invest in education and skills training for women, unlocking their full potential as agents of change and economic development.

Australia and New Zealand

Australia and New Zealand, though distant, are globally interconnected continents that offer a unique perspective on gender equality and women's empowerment. The government, along with various business organizations, actively works to address gender disparities and create an inclusive society. Therefore, governments, businesses, and leaders should enhance global connections and demonstrate their commitment to gender equality by participating in the congress. They should highlight their efforts to promote women's empowerment, leadership, and entrepreneurship, by supporting initiatives that support women's career advancement and economic independence, they can drive sustainable development and prosperity in the region.

Antarctica

Although Antarctica is not home to permanent populations, international research stations should participate in the congress to demonstrate their commitment to gender equality in the scientific community and the role of women in discovering and sharing knowledge, they should also explore how women can play a more significant role in this part of the world, we suggest that concerned organizations and leaders share insights on promoting women's participation in polar research and fostering a supportive work environment throughout the region. Moreover, fostering gender equality in Antarctic research can set a positive example for global scientific collaboration and innovation.

In the visionary framework of the world's kings, queens, crown princess, presidents, prime ministers, ministers, governors, mayors, global government and business decision-makers, leaders, intellectuals, and visionaries, and in alignment with global economic and community efforts to promote women's empowerment, gender balance, leadership, and women's global competitiveness, there is a collective exploration of modern international leadership strategies. These strategies aim to nurture the evolution of women into role models, fostering growth, and inspiring the younger generation to shape initiatives across the seven continents.

Following the global commendable achievements, Datamatix, in cooperation with the Middle East Excellence Awards Institute and its global partners and leaders, in conjunction with the International Women's Day Celebration, takes the honor of presenting "The 7 Continents Success Stories of Women Leaders Excellence Awards."

The Awards showcases the resilience, determination, and ingenuity of women who have defied expectations and pioneered in their respective fields, from leaders to entrepreneurs and scientists, each awardee represents a unique facet of female excellence and leadership, inspiring audiences globally to dream big and pursue their passions fearlessly beyond the borders.

The Awards celebrate the achievements and contributions of women across the globe. From Asia to Africa, Europe to North America, South America to Australia, and Antarctica, these awards highlight the diverse accomplishments of women in various fields such as business, science, technology, arts, social activism and more.

The awards will feature seven award categories from each of the seven continents. Our judges, based on a set of strict criteria, will nominate the candidates. Each continent will award one woman in each of its respective categories, evaluated based on their achievements, leadership qualities, impact on their community or field, and dedication to advancing their continent. Judges will assess nominees against a set of predetermined criteria to ensure transparency and fairness in the selection process.

Women from diverse backgrounds and fields are encouraged to nominate themselves or women who have demonstrated exceptional leadership, innovation, and impact in their respective communities and beyond in their continent. These nominations highlight the diversity of talent and the breadth of accomplishments among women on a global scale.

As nominations is from every corner of the world, the selection process is a collective power and influence of women in shaping the future. Through these submissions, the stories of extraordinary women emerge, inspiring others and reaffirms the importance of gender equality and empowerment on a global stage.

In addition to honoring the awardees, the event honors awardees but also fosters networking, collaboration, and mentorship among global leaders and advocates. Attendees are empowered to advance gender equality through meaningful connections and shared experiences. Celebrating women's achievements sends a powerful message of admiration and inspires future generations to pursue greatness. These awards play a crucial role in advancing gender equality and empowering women worldwide.
